The Pacific Heritage Tour 2023

Ahoy Sailor,

Thank you for your interest in joining us and the crew aboard the sailing vessel, San Salvador. The enclosed information is dedicated to provide you with a general overview of the expected experience one may have while on board as well as to describe some expectations for participants. Also enclosed are planning and registration materials for securing your spot aboard the San Salvador Adventure Sail.

This year, Adventure Sailing dates and ports are:

Morro Bay to Northern Channel Islands to Oxnard August 21st – August 26th, 2023 $2,259.00pp

Oxnard to Southern Channel Islands to San Diego August 27th – September 1st, 2023 $2,259.00pp

San Salvador participants are responsible for their own travel arrangements to and from each port for the leg they purchase (PLEASE note starting port and ending port). It is recommended you make your travel transit arrangements no more than one month prior to the sailing date as occasional ship logistics and date adjustments are possible. The Maritime Museum of San Diego is not responsible for any travel and accommodation reimbursements due to unforeseen circumstances.

I encourage you to visit our website for information and photos of the ship and last tour. Please let me know if you would have any physical difficulty in getting in and out of a top bunk. Participants are expected to be able to climb unassisted over a Jacobs ladder and will do so before disembarking. Pictures of the bunks are on the website. - Inappropriate behavior consists of:
  - Use of foul or insulting language.

What to bring on a multi-day voyage:

Space is very limited shipboard. All of your gear will need to fit in an open storage bin that measures 1.5 ft. 2 ft or be kept in your sleeping berth. Please keep this in mind while you are packing!

- 1 soft duffel bag and/or a daypack for all your gear, no suitcases! (at the least, a plastic bag makes a good container)
- Sleeping Bag, pillow, sleeping mat, and sheet, plus an extra sheet for a privacy curtain.
- Layers of clothing. Pack sparingly, and keep in mind that it is most often 15 to 20 cooler than shore temperatures. Ships work is often dirty and destructive to clothes you probably only need one "nice" outfit for going to shore.
- Wool sweater
- Long underwear
- A ski hat is a must.
- Two pairs of comfortable shoes (make sure one is closed toe hiking style and has good traction)
- Sun Hat (make sure you have something that you can keep from blowing off)
- Sunscreen
- Good Sunglasses and maybe an extra pair (a strap is a good idea)
- Towel
- Flashlight or Headlamp for personal reading. Headlamp is best in a moving bunk. (Red lens required for use on deck after dark.)
- Coffee/Thermal Travel Mug with a wide base/ non-breakable
- Ear plugs
- Toiletry Kit
- Extra pair prescription eyewear (if applicable)
- Sea sick medication (If you feel you need it, begin taking 24hrs prior to departure.)

Optional

- Rain Suit or Foul Weather Gear. (At night, on watch, with spray coming over the side, you will get wet and cold, if nothing else this will cut the wind. Both pants and coat are recommended.)
- Sailing gloves (without fingertips) can be helpful for pulling line.
- Knife on belt or lanyard. The sail training will teach you the usefulness of this.
- Binoculars if you already own them.
- Baby wipes or whatever cleaning wipes to freshen-up with.
- Bathing Suit
- Camera
- Table cloth size piece of cloth to make a privacy curtain for your bunk
- Eye mask for sleeping
- Water bottle
- Handkerchief
- Backup ear plugs
- Folding beach chair

General information for passengers aboard San Salvador

Meals: Meals and snacks will be provided on the boat. The San Salvador has a cook aboard, but please note that supplies are limited and some dietary restrictions may be beyond our ability to meet. If you have dietary restrictions, please make special note on your medical form. When at a harbor during a mealtime, you may desire to purchase meals on shore. Fresh water is limited; participants are welcome to bring up to one 6 pack of bottled water for their own consumption. For your convenience and use, please bring your own coffee mug. Both meals and cleaning are communal activities.

Showers and Laundry: While at a harbor, we will try to have available the use of the showers on shore. Often there is a coin laundry available in such situations. You can wash your hair on deck with salt water if you choose. Bring layers of clothing for all weather situations but do not expect to wear clean clothes all the time nor shower every day. The crew recommends baby wipes as a nice way to stay fresh without a shower.

Berths: The bunks aboard the San Salvador are thickly padded and vinyl covered. While they do have accommodations for privacy curtains, they are in communal spaces. Bunk assignment is at random with the exception of persons with special needs. You must provide your own bedding supplies.

Electricity: The boat has batteries at 12v and a generator that runs when the motor is running that can give 110v. Access to electrical outlets is not easy, but will be normally available to people who want to charge batteries on computers or cameras. Note that not everyone will have access to electricity at any time they would like.

Cell Phone/ CDs/walkmans: Part of the experience of a sailboat at sea is its isolation and shipboard community. On the other hand, used sparingly there is no problem with bringing a cell phone. Note that your phone may not work well even when close to shore.

Smoking Policy: The greatest danger facing a wooden ship is fire. For that reason, there is NO SMOKING on board.

Seasickness: Take precautions to prevent seasickness! Nobody should think that they simply don't get seasick. There are several wristband technologies, though for most people medication (Dramamine, Bonine, or other over the counter brand) may be more reliable. The active ingredient in Bonine can be purchased from your pharmacist for a fraction of the brand name. Ask them for guidance on interaction issues with your prescriptions.

Alcohol, Illegal Drugs, and Inappropriate Behavior: While on board the San Salvador all laws and regulations of the U.S. as they pertain to passenger vessels apply. The Captain can dismiss any participant from the trip for violations of the conduct code. Such a participant can be dropped off at any port and be expected to find his or her own way back home. The cost of the trip is not refunded. See Code of Conduct in the application package.

Cancellation Policy: To reserve a berth requires full payment. If you need to cancel 60 days before the date of the program, you will receive a full refund. If you cancel 30 days before the date of the program you will receive 50% refund. Cancellations less than 30 days before the date of the program will result in the forfeiture of the entire sum of the trip. If the scheduled program is cancelled by the Maritime Museum for any reason, you will receive a full refund for any monies pre-paid. All travel and hotel arrangements made by you are your responsibility. We recommend you seek travel insurance for your logistics'.
